BUT THE HAPPY IS REAL

Framed by artificially frosted window panes, comely Jennifer Morton, symbolizes the traditionally happy Yuletide season of tinsel, good cheer and fellowship. The scene will be duplicated in hundreds of homes in Kelowna and district as residents prepare for that special time of year of gift-giving and warm greetings to friends and neighbors, all pictorially expressed in Jennifer's face as she applies frosting to the Christmas window cake.

Dublin Savoring Sweet Success

DUBLIN (Reuters) — The Irish government savored a sweeping success today in a national referendum aimed at promoting eventual unity with Northern Ireland, but the triumph was tinged by the failure of 40 per cent of the electorate to vote.

Final referendum returns showed that more than four out of five of those who did vote supported government plans to end the special constitutional position of the Roman Catholic Church in the Irish republic.

But Prime Minister Jack Lynch admitted disappointment at Thursday's 50-per-cent voter turnout. He had hoped for a turnout of at least 65 per cent to show Protestants in Northern Ireland that the people of the predominantly Catholic republic were willing to make concessions to achieve unity.

The result gives the government the go-ahead to delete from Article 41 of the 1937 constitution two clauses which refer to the special position of the Catholic Church as "the guardian of the faith professed by the great majority of citizens."

Pit Survivor Back On Job

KELLOGG, Idaho (AP) — Tom Wilkinson goes back to work today in the labyrinth tunnels of the Sunshine Silver Mine, where he once was trapped eight days following a fire that claimed the lives of 91 fellow miners.

Ron Flory, who also was trapped with Wilkinson 4,000 feet underground and likewise survived, decided not to rejoin the work crew.

Most of the 200 men going back say the mine—the largest U.S. silver producer—will be a safer place to work now.

The U.S. bureau of mines approved the reopening and Sunshine officials broadcast the seven-month recall. It had been closed seven months.

Investigators say they still are not sure what caused the raging fire last May 2. Federal officials believe it may have erupted in abandoned workings, possibly the result of spontaneous combustion.

Crash Toll Now 43

CHICAGO (AP) — A passenger jet with 61 persons aboard crashed Friday in a neighborhood of tidy bungalows as it approached Midway Airport in sleet and snow, killing most of those aboard.

Two bodies were taken from the rubble this morning, increasing the number of known dead to 45. There were 18 survivors. Two persons in the southwest side neighborhood were believed to be among the victims.

Among the known victims was U.S. Representative George Callins, (Dem., Ill.). Also among bodies tentatively identified at a morgue Friday night was that of Michelle Clark, a CBS television news correspondent.

The two-engine United Air Lines Boeing 737 came down about a half-mile from the airport, skimming over the roof of one home and slicing through five other houses.

Toronto Posties Back On Job

TORONTO (CP) — Postal operations returned to normal in Metropolitan Toronto Friday night after service earlier in the day was disrupted by a series of walkouts in protest against slow progress in negotiations between the postal unions and the post office.

The walkouts, involving about 600 postal employees, began shortly after midnight when some 300 sorters and handlers left their jobs at the downtown delivery office. They ended when pickets were withdrawn at the start of the evening shift.

HORSES KILLED
QUEBEC (CP) — Eighteen horses died Friday in a fire that destroyed a stable and heavily damaged another building.

INCORRECT REPORT REGRETTED

A tragic incident where misinformation led the paper to inform its readers that a fourth victim in Tuesday's accident on Lakeshore Road had died, is sincerely regretted. The Courier reported on page one Friday that 16-year-old Carolyn Emerson had died as a result of injuries sustained in that accident. We were advised after the paper had reached the street that the information received was not correct, and that Mrs. Emerson had in fact been released from hospital. We sincerely apologize for any discomfort and embarrassment this may have caused the Emerson family, and we extend our deepest sympathies to the family in the loss of their daughter in that same accident.

BULLETIN

EDMONTON (CP) — The Beechcraft plane missing for more than a month in barren Arctic wilderness was found today and one survivor of the four persons aboard was being flown to Yellowknife, N.W.T., in a Canadian Armed Forces helicopter.

Jury Clears Rose

MONTREAL (CP) — Jacques Rose was acquitted today by an 11-man jury of a charge of kidnapping former Quebec labor minister Pierre Laporte.

The unanimous verdict by the jury came after three hours of deliberation today and was greeted by cheers from the courtroom spectators.

Rose, who still faces a murder charge in the death of Mr. Laporte a week after his October, 1970, abduction, broke into a broad smile when the jury foreman told the court "we find the accused not guilty."

The 25-year-old former mechanic told the jury members he wished to thank them and then shook hands with each individual member as he left the court.

Robert Lemieux, Rose's lawyer, told the court that "this is not a verdict of the establishment, it's a verdict of the people."

As the spectators cheered and sang a Quebec nationalist song, Mr. Lemieux said "there will be roses in the snow this winter."

Vote Tally 'Average'

An average turnout of voters was recorded at Centennial Hall this morning, with 946 electors casting ballots in the aldermanic race to 11 a.m.

The response was described by city returning officer James Hudson as comparable to the 1970 election and slightly higher than the 1968 vote.

Voter turnout at the same location for the school referendum was recorded at 969 to 11:45 a.m. today in what was described as a "steady" response.

Referendum voter turnout at Rutland was 200 by 11 a.m., with 64 voters listed in the same location for the regional district directorship race. No results were available in the school board vote to press time.

HE DROVE FIRE TO FIRE HALL

Members of the Kelowna Fire Department rubbed their eyes in appreciative disbelief as a fire drove up to their doorstep early today.

The rare turn-around happened at 1:04 a.m., when a frantic motorist drove up to the fire hall with a flaming car seat which was promptly extinguished by on-duty firemen. Cause of the mobile blaze was attributed to a cigarette.

"I wish they would all do that," said a department spokesman.

PRE-CHRISTMAS HANGOVER

'Paper-Hanger' Costly To Stores

By DEAN McNULTY
Courier Staff

"Twas the night before Christmas and all were asleep—except for the local merchant who was counting all the bad checks he had received during the Yuletide season.

He was sitting up wondering what he could do, maybe if Saint Nick appeared at his house early he could reclaim all the gifts bought with the bad checks. But not even he would ruin a Christmas in such a fashion.

The problem as he sees it is that people often make light of the "paper hanger" as he is known in some circles. But this same gentleman costs merchants in Kelowna thousands of dollars each Christmas season by passing off checks which are worthless.

One retailer said that he receives as many as three per day at Christmas. This is no laughing matter.

The consequences of checks being cashed which have a "rubbery" quality are felt far and wide. The merchant who has to pay back three of the items each cheque cashed in one day is not going to be so

Egypt And Allies Win UN Battle Against Israel

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Egypt and non-aligned countries have won their biggest UN vote yet against Israeli occupation of Arab land, but its effect on settling the Middle East dispute is uncertain.

The General Assembly adopted the non-aligned countries' resolution late Friday, inviting states "to avoid actions, including actions in the field of aid, that could constitute recognition" of the occupation.

The vote for the 19-nation proposal was 86 to 7, with 31 abstentions, including Canada, compared with a 19 to 7 and 36 abstentions last year when a shorter and milder Middle East resolution was being considered.

Some observers speculated that the new resolution could be used by Egypt to slow demands by those pressing for war with Israel and thereby gain time for an eventual settlement.

Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoah told the assembly Israel would not be "engulfed by numbers" and would treat the new resolution "in a matter befitting a spurious document." Tekoah called for an Israel-Arab dialogue to settle their differences.

U.S. Ambassador George Bush made it clear the United States would not cut off aid to Israel, in which it leads the world.

The United States also abstained from voting on Friday's resolution after the assembly defeated 65 to 24, with 34 abstentions, its bid for a separate vote on the reference to aid.

CONTRARY TO POLICY
"This paragraph is directly contrary to United States policy on the matter of assistance," Bush said, "and cannot effect our attitude."

Bush said the new resolution, "upsets the careful balance" of the 1967 Security Council decision and the assembly could not expect that it would establish a new basis, for peace in the Middle East.

The 1967 resolution calls for Israeli withdrawal from occupied territories and recognition of the sovereignty of all Middle East states within secure borders.

In another development Friday, the United States admitted defeat for its plan to have the world organization take action against international terrorism. U.S. Ambassador W. Tapley Bennett said he now supports a compromise resolution asking the International Law Commission to prepare an anti-terrorist treaty "as soon as practical."

Bennett had denounced an Arab-backed resolution as nothing but "a prescription for talks." The measure calls for a study of the underlying causes of terrorism. However, this is given the best chance for approval when it comes to a vote Monday.

Space Travel Less Trimmings

HOUSTON (CP) — Three industrious astronauts sailed today almost to within grasp of the moon's gravity in one of the most businesslike and undramatic missions of the Apollo program. Lunar orbit was just a day away.

Gone are the "gee whizz" reactions and television spectators from the spacecraft—only one had been scheduled early in the mission and that was cancelled. Instead, listeners on the ground were being given an exhaustive rundown on the earth's weather systems and scientific activities aboard the moonship.

The only deviation from this pattern has been some poetic asides by astronaut Jack Schmitt on his first views of the earth from outer space.

Schmitt, mission commander Eugene Cernan and command module pilot Ronald Evans scheduled a final rehearsal today on the last manned U.S. moon landing—donning space suits, activating switches and awakening the lunar lander named Challenger.

The men of Apollo 17 perform the real thing Monday when Challenger sets down on the moon for an exploration science hopes will fill missing gaps about that world's evolution. The astronauts are to move into lunar orbit Sunday.

In the rehearsal, Cernan and Schmitt, who are to be the 11th and 12th Americans to visit the moon, float through a tunnel connecting the command ship America with the smaller lunar model. Then they close the hatch connecting the two craft, sealing themselves from the command ship to test oxygen and other systems.

LANDER IN GOOD SHAPE
Evans remains aboard America, just as he will when his crewmates land on the moon.

Cernan and Schmitt, a geologist and the first U.S. scientist in space, boarded Challenger for the first time Friday and found it in good shape.

The astronauts found one of the 12 latches sealing Challenger and America together failed to completely engage. Mission Control said the failure causes no serious concern since only nine of the latches need to engage for a secure linkup.

U.S. 'Understands' Canada On Truce Role In Vietnam

BRUSSELS (CP) — U.S. State Secretary William Rogers expressed sympathy Friday with Canada's conditions for serving on a proposed international observer team in Vietnam.

Speaking at a news conference at the end of a two-day meeting of foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), Rogers said he thought Canada's position was "perfectly reasonable."

"As far as the conditions are concerned," Rogers said, "we can accept most of them."

Canada has stated that acceptance of its conditions by all four parties involved in the Vietnam conflict is essential if it is to take part in the observer operation.

The conditions laid down by Canada are that specific invitations to serve on the observer force be issued by each of the four parties, that the ceasefire supervisory commission be guaranteed freedom of movement, that an international body be established to which the commission can report, and an agreement that reports of true violations need not be unanimous.

OTHERS TO REPLY
The other three parties, Hanoi, Saigon, and the Provisional Revolutionary Government of South Vietnam, which is supported by Hanoi, have not yet said whether or not they agree to the Canadian terms.

Canada has also asked that members of the commission be unarmed or, at the most, equipped only with handguns for personal protection.

Lewis Gives Rousing Defence To Crusading Morton Shulman

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario New Democratic Party Leader Stephen Lewis gave a rousing defence of Morton Shulman in his keynote speech to the party's annual convention Friday night but warned that the NDP's crusading reformer should have to be more cautious in the future.

In a tough, frequently colorful, sometimes sentimental speech, the youthful leader also condemned the government for a welfare system that he said guarantees the poor will always be poor, and for cutbacks in hospital spending.

But his only standing ovation, except for the one at the end of his 24-page speech, came when he urged Dr. Shulman to continue the fight in the legislature for what he termed legitimate causes.

Dr. Shulman, who resigned Toronto High Park, offered to resign, then changed his mind after admitting in the legislature he had wrongly accused Attorney General John D. Wilson of an affair with a woman friend.

Both the government and the opposition have agreed to let Lewis resign.

MORTON SHULMAN

... but caution advised

Morton Shulman charmed a really quite terrifying problem in a small fraction of the convention's time in Metropolitan Toronto. Mr. Lewis said "But in so doing, he overstepped the bounds."

"So I urge Morton Shulman to resign," Lewis said in the future, but to stay and fight for what is legitimate."

Junta Squelches Peron's Hopes

Argentina's governing military junta gave formal notice Friday in Buenos Aires that former president Juan Peron will not be allowed to be a candidate in general elections scheduled for next March. The army junta rejected a request from a group of political parties for repeal of an Aug. 25 residency clause that automatically excludes Peron. The former dictator returned to Argentina Nov. 17 for a visit.

Uganda, normally a sugar exporter, is shopping for $8.4 million worth of white sugar to end a shortage apparently due to President Idi Amin's takeover of the two major refineries. Amin expelled the plants' Asian owners and managers in his recent purge of more than 50,000 residents of Asian descent who had not become Ugandan citizens.

Teamsters' Chief Tries Again After Watergate Case Failure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters President Frank Fitzsimmons, after failing to get the union's law firm to hold back its pursuit of the Watergate bugging case, is moving Teamsters legal business to a firm that will include a top White House aide.

Sources familiar with the events say Fitzsimmons, one of President Nixon's closest labor supporters, expressed dissatisfaction that the firm of Edward Bennett Williams was investigating the Watergate affair for the Democratic party.

Fitzsimmons indicated he was partially reflecting White House displeasure.

The White House official is Charles Colson, counsel to the president. Colson hired and supervised one of the seven men indicted in the break-in at Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate building. He has said he will leave the White House soon and join a law firm with his past legal partner, Charles Morin.

Morin confirmed Friday that his firm will become the Teamsters' legal representative.

The Teamsters issued a statement Friday night confirming the switch but denying that it was related to the Watergate case.

Colson earlier this year recommended to Nixon that the prison sentence of former Teamsters president James R. Hoffa be commuted. Hoffa was later freed.

The union endorsed Nixon for president.

Williams' firm loses the Teamster's $100,000-a-year retainer after representing the international union for 15 years.

Harry Lowe, 49, died in a Vancouver hospital from injuries suffered when his car suddenly veered left across a vacant lot and crashed into a fence, garage and a car early Thursday. If an autopsy shows the cause of death was injuries from the accident Mr. Lowe will be the 63rd person to die this year in a traffic accident.

County Court Judge A. H. J. Swendsky of Vancouver will sentence Thomas Fung Dec. 15 after a jury found him guilty Friday of three counts of trafficking in heroin. The jury was told Fung sold 11 ounces of heroin to an undercover police agent.

Education Minister Eileen Dailly said in Victoria Friday she plans to introduce legislation in the spring sitting of the legislature allowing school boards to share costs with municipalities on facilities that can be used by the whole community. Mrs. Dailly said some school boards are already financing facilities with municipalities, "but joint financing legislation must be properly legislated so that a greater degree of co-operation is possible for all boards."

West Berlin workers have discovered two skeletons near the spot where Martin Hermann, Hitler's deputy, was reported by some eyewitnesses to have been buried in 1945, a police spokesman announced Friday. He said the discovery was made during cable-laying work in Invalidenstrasse, in the British sector near the Berlin Wall on Thursday. First forensic investigations showed that the bones have been buried for 20 to 30 years. Hermann was last seen alive in the vicinity two days after Hitler committed suicide on April 30, 1945, at the end of the Second World War.

The director of the West Kootenay Health Unit said Friday in Trail his staff cannot adequately police restaurants and catering companies because of a shortage of health inspectors. Dr. Nick Schmitt made the comment while disclosing 60 persons suffered the effects of food poisoning after a banquet in Trail in late October.

Markist President Salvador Allende of Chile was due to leave Moscow for Cuba today at the end of his first visit to Russia, during which he was reported to have received pledges of increased Soviet economic aid. The Soviet Union has given firm backing to Allende's leftist coalition government since he came to power more than two years ago and his visit was the highlight of his current tour abroad.

Albert Milo Gates, 58, of Port Alberni, Friday was fined $900, prohibited from driving for three years and placed on probation for two years on charges laid after a fatal accident June 13, in which Bonnie Sheryl Koppen, 18, of Nanaimo, was killed.

Supreme Court Justice H. C. McKay Friday rescinded a contract for dance lessons from a Vancouver dance studio, saying its officers and employees were "a highly unscrupulous lot preying on lonely and foolish people." Mr. Justice McKay gave Rosemarie Gaeremier, 28, judgment for $2,573 and costs in her suit against Fiesta Dance Studios which he said operated under the name Fred Astaire Dance Studios. The judge said several civil actions are pending against the studio.

In Grande Prairie, Atze Helzer Vanderkooi, 39, of Prince George, was remanded Friday in absentia to face two charges resulting from the shooting of a 12-year-old boy. He was charged in the shooting of David Warren of East Pouce Coupe, who was hit by a bullet on Nov. 24. The boy's leg was amputated later.

Cold Weather Extension Set For School Buses In B.C.

VICTORIA (CP) — About $1.5 million will be available after Jan. 1 to 28 school boards to enable them to extend rural school bus service in extremely cold weather, Education Minister Eileen Dailly said Friday. She said school boards may use the money to extend existing bus routes, provide temporary short-run bus service with privately-owned vehicles, or even to hire taxis and pay parents with cars for driving their children to school from a distance.

The amount of money available to a school board will depend on the number of months in the winter when the mean daily temperature is below 15 degrees and the number of pupils who are not served by regular bus runs.

Education department regulations prohibit subsidizing bus service for students who live within three miles of their school or within two miles of a bus route.

"We are taking this immediate step to assist the boards to provide transportation in the one situation that, without any question, may pose a threat to the lives or safety of children—extremely cold weather, particularly when combined with a wind-chill factor and heavy snowfall," Mrs. Dailly said.

Saskatchewan Air's Fairly Blue And It's Not All Because Of Cold

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Saskatchewan residents continue to curse, between chattering teeth, the deep freeze that has gripped the province for the last week.

And the weatherman says they'll continue to add to the already blue air for some time to come.

On Thursday alone, 11 Saskatchewan centres experienced record low maximum temperatures and Swift Current, in the province's southwest, experienced the lowest of 22 below.

The weather office summed up the cold snap with this eloquent observation: "Alas, what more can be said. It has been very cold... it is very cold" and it will remain very cold."

The unusual severity of the temperatures across the wheat province can be illustrated by the average maximum temperature values for Saskatchewan's two largest cities, Saskatoon and Regina, during the first week of December. Saskatoon's average maximum was eight below and Regina's was seven while the normal is about 22 above for both centres.

The average minimum for the two cities in the last week was about 24 below whereas the normal average is five above.

While Saskatchewan residents shiver in their woollens, Albertans are about to enjoy a slight respite from a week of equally cold weather.

A deep freeze that gripped the oil province last week began to thaw Friday night and temperatures near five above are expected today.

Although still below normal, the slightly milder weather is much appreciated by 15 Alberta communities that experienced or matched record lows Thursday night.

Brooks, in the southeast, was the coldest of the 15, experiencing a low reading of 37 below which equalled a record set in 1956. It was 34 below in Calgary and 31 below at Edmonton's International Airport.

SCOTCH ON ROCKS

BRISTOL, Pa. (AP) — They had scotch on the rocks at a ramp to the Pennsylvania Turnpike near this Bucks County community Thursday. They also had scotch on the grass and mud at the bottom of a 12-foot embankment. A tractor trailer tipped over and spilled 1,000 cases of scotch, rye and brandy worth $25,000.

Japan Votes On Sunday

TOKYO (AP) — Japan votes Sunday in a general election which Kakuei Tanaka's Liberal Democratic party is expected to win by a reduced margin.

Pollsters expect the Socialists and Communists to score gains and the Liberal Democrats to lose up to 15 of the 297 seats they hold in the House of Representatives on Nov. 13 when Prime Minister Tanaka dissolved parliament. This would still give his party a majority in the 491-seat chamber which they have controlled since the Second World War.

The election is the first for Tanaka, an energetic 55-year-old construction millionaire who became prime minister in July. Public-opinion polls show he has timed it well. It looks as if any losses his party may suffer will be the result of more attractive opposition candidates and not public disillusionment over his policies.

Since he came to office, Tanaka has acted boldly in charting Japan's future in foreign and domestic affairs. He extended diplomatic recognition to China, met President Nixon and British Prime Minister Edward Heath to discuss the economic future of their countries and proposed an ambitious plan to remodel Japan by dispersing industry, building more highways and railways and arranging orderly districts for work and play.

Two Lebanese Die In Clash

BEIRUT (Reuter) — Two Lebanese soldiers were killed and five others wounded in Friday's clash with Palestinian Arab commandos in southern Lebanon, the defence ministry announced today.

The guerrillas gave their casualties as four killed and an unspecified number wounded in the fighting which lasted more than nine hours.

Lebanese officials and guerrilla representatives met here today to try to cool the situation.

The defence ministry blamed the guerrillas for opening fire on an army unit sent to check whether they had evacuated positions barred to them "for military reasons."

Statements by the guerrillas, however, accused the army of attacking some of their bases in the southern and eastern sectors of south Lebanon, and shelling guerrilla outposts.

EUROCRATS PLAN STRIKE

BRUSSELS (Reuter) — Chaos threatened to grip the European Common Market on the eve of British entry as representatives of 8,000 Eurocrats—European civil servants—decided to go on strike starting next Monday following the failure of pay talks with European Economic Community (EEC) ministers.

The strike will start at midnight Sunday night and last at least nine days, strike leaders said. This means that the EEC's administrative machine could be virtually shut down until the new year because people will be absent during the Christmas holidays anyway.

It will affect the 6,000 employees at EEC headquarters, plus

2,000 more staff members working at the European parliament and other institutions in Luxembourg.

Kane Backs Policy Of Recreation Fee

CITY PAGE

Saturday, December 9, 1972

Says Outside Economy Boost Not Relevant To Argument

Kelowna alderman William Kane said Friday the argument the area outside contributes to the economy of the city "is not relevant" to the city's decision to place an "outsider tariff" on recreation programs.

City council earlier this week agreed to a policy of charging non-resident users twice as much as residents and city property owners for city-operated recreation programs.

Ald. Kane said the city does not charge one cent to recover any capital cost of its recreation facilities "but we are concerned about the cost of operation of these programs."

He said today the concept of a municipality charging non-resident fees for certain amenities is not new and Kelowna is fact investigating fees charged in other cities throughout the province before the motion was passed.

His comments were prompted by remarks of President Dave Chapman of the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce who described the move as a "step in the wrong direction."

Mr. Chapman told a meeting of chamber directors he felt the policy would have the effect of dividing the community.

And he said, "... people outside the city do support our town."

Ald. Kane said he understands this, particularly from a person paying business taxes, "but it isn't relevant to the policy."

The city simply would like to recover at least part of the cost of administering these recreation programs."

He said the millrate for general purposes in the city is about two and a half times that charged outside the city.

"The city's proposal that residents outside pay twice as much for these programs is only a token step toward closing the gap in the amounts paid by resident and non-resident users."

"It, at least, recognizes the disparity," he added.

Westbank Indian Council Prepares Future Planning

The Westbank Indian council finished a two-day session Friday discussing basic information on finalization of conceptual and planning phases relating to a $45,000 master development study of the reserve.

The band contracted the firm of Interform Planning and Design Ltd., of Calgary this summer to prepare a development plan as a preamble to future projects which will initially include a $1,500,000 marina and a $250,000 cultural centre.

Chief Noll Derriksan said Friday funds delayed by the Indian Affairs branch covering the first phase of the study have been received by the Calgary firm, allowing a beginning to the second part of the master plan.

Terms of reference for the plan include provision for long-range use, equitation of band social and economic needs and the desire by the Indian Affairs branch to further the development of the reserve in a manner which complements the policies of the regional district.

Describing the future development of the reserve as "really exciting," chief Derriksan said projects slated will be of "tremendous significance" to the band in terms of "involvement" and other internal aspects.

Retroactive Increase Ready For Hotel Workers Union

Hotel and culinary workers in Kelowna and district, have extra money coming to them, but they must apply for it.

Local 835, Beverage Dispensers and Culinary Workers' Union, signed a new contract Nov. 26 with employers. It provides increases retroactive to May 1. Written applications must be made to employers by Jan. 7.

This is required because employers may not know where people who have worked since May 1 live now, explained shop steward Ralph Foster. The local has 800 members from Princeton to Salmon Arm, of whom about 130 work in Kelowna and Peachland.

The new contract, expiring April 30, 1974, gives tap men

75 cents an hour more, waiters 51 cents, servers 31-41 cents plus 10 cents fringe benefits. About half these amounts are retroactive.

All employees get health and welfare plans under the new pact. Former hourly rates were $3.23, $2.95 and $2.05.

A tap man could have $400 coming, estimated Mr. Foster.

Under the new agreement, tap men get 12 cents per hour less than coast workers, and waiters four cents less. The next contract is expected to bring parity, the official said.

The union was set to open talks in February, but a representative of the employers was not available until about a month before the signing.

A 'Definite Need' Is There According To COSPC Brief

The Central Okanagan Social Planning Council (COSPC) has found there is a definite need for a central location for meetings in Kelowna.

A report on a survey done by COSPC said this was expressed by more than half of the members of community, service and private organizations interviewed from a random sample of about 140 groups.

COSPC undertook the survey which was to be combined with a Downtown Business Association (DBA) post office proposal, to land support to the DBA proposal. However, the DBA has dropped its proposal on the old post office site, causing COSPC to shelve its brief.

The report from COSPC stated most service clubs hold supper meetings and a place where this type of gathering could be held was preferable. It was found these supper meetings received good turnouts.

The report said there was a general indication the executive "would be happy to have a centrally located meeting place available for any executive meetings or special committee meetings that come up."

It was discovered small permanent offices where records and club materials could be kept would be "most advantageous" to groups. The report stated for the most part space is required only for meetings and "there would be no objection to paying a nominal amount for the use of such space". Service clubs in Kelowna average about 40 members and usually meet twice a month, the report added.

Although church clubs averaging about 50 members found there was no "real need" for a central location for meetings because they use church halls or basements, the COSPC brief said the opinion was expressed such church activities as bazaars would find a central location "more helpful."

"Boys Club is in definite need of a central location to meet and were most enthusiastic about any location that would provide them with room for activities other than meetings", the report stated.

Other community service clubs which average about 70 members would prefer a central location but since they meet only twice a year "the need is not a pressing one", the brief stated. It added in all cases there was no objection to paying a nominal amount for the use of space.

Members from private organizations said they met in private homes. The report said "since they are small they are not in great need of a central location to meet but indications were that they would welcome the opportunity to have such space available."

Private groups in Kelowna average about 30 members, the brief stated.

Manpower Reports Activity, L.I.P. Projects Being Readied

A report from the Kelowna Manpower office states the placement activity remained at a "high level" through the centre during November. However, there is a shortage of competent legal and medical stenographers in the area.

The report states the centre has received 22 proposals submitted from employees in the Kelowna area for the Canada Manpower On the Job Training Program. The number of trainees proposed in the total applications is 100. The federal government contribution for these contracts is about $120,000, the report said.

The local centre is now receiving approved applications which will enable employers to hire people immediately. The Manpower centre is urging employers interested in the program to submit applications soon.

GUEST EDITORIAL

Bilateral Love Theme Is Christian Principle

To love, according to Webster, is to have a strong feeling of affection for and a devoted attachment to the object of one's love. Such a relationship is hard to hide, even if there was any desire for secrecy. It will constantly reveal its presence.

Love is spoken of frequently in the Bible, not only in the natural sense, but also as between God and man, and man and God. God's love to man, though often unreturned, is unmistakable, unparalleled, and unending. It is expressed so clearly in John 3:16 "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." John further reminds us that "God is Love."

Man's love for God, on the contrary, is for the most part, non-existent. Often there is just a form, a lip-service, with no real affection. Instead of being central in one's thoughts and plans as the object of one's affection will be, God is out on the periphery. If He is recognized at all, the recognition is casual and makes no real impact on our lives.

Interestingly enough, when Jesus was approached by one who asked "How can I obtain eternal life?" He pointed them to the two great commandments of the law. These commandments, though not written into the ten, in so many words, encompass all the others, and are—love God wholeheartedly, and love your neighbor as yourself. This then, is the qualification for eternal life, and this we cannot do without a change of heart.

Love between two persons could hardly be complete if they had never met. And not until we have met Jesus Christ personally, and have asked for and received forgiveness, can we know what it is to love Him.

We must be changed, and become new men and women to enjoy this relationship. When this has happened, it will be hard for us to hide our love, in fact, we won't want to. The secret will be out, and those nearest to us, as well as those of more casual acquaintance, will recognize that our lives are under new management, that we are being governed by the "expulsive power of a new affection."

—Joe James, Pastor of the Kelowna Free Methodist Church.

Her Lover Is Her Husband

Not long ago, the couple who lived together outside the bonds of matrimony was looked upon with a measure of scorn. With the new morality society has come to more readily accept such unions.

But to some extent the new morality has turned the tables. Particularly among young people, it is now the couples who bind themselves in marriage who are derided. And, suddenly we find ourselves having to defend marriage. The value of marriage is difficult to put into words.

Nevertheless, many have done so but none, we think, better than a Mrs. Joan Pierson, of London, Ont., in a letter to the Hamilton Spectator.

Mrs. Pierson wrote: "He's not my husband, he's my lover" breathed the young woman as she introduced the man living with her.

We stood together, my husband and I. Her eyes flicked over us in a derogatory fashion.

"Marriage is out of date—dullsville," she said.

I longed to screech back: "What makes you think that my husband and I are not still lovers?" We bicker, we argue, we fight. Our marriage is anything but dullsville. But even in the middle of a towering rage we each recognize that we would never separate.

Our marriage began with the supreme and sole desire of two people for each other and with each anniversary our love has expanded, encompassing our children, our relatives and our friends.

My husband has willingly washed the dishes, diapered the baby, cleaned the floors. He is ultra-masculine. He works hard and long at his job. He did not do these things for me under domination. He chose this way to show me that as a husband and father he loved his wife and children. It works both ways. I have held up ceilings while he hammered in nails, painted walls and helped him mix cement.

Every day I see husbands and wives working together on such tasks as these. I have no mental picture of lovers doing these things.

Maybe it's because lovers are basically selfish, afraid to take on the responsibility that marriage imposes. They do not want to be deeply committed to any one person. They stay together thinking that if the other person does not come up to expectations they can quickly get out. They don't want to work towards building a relationship that will last a lifetime.

Throughout the ages what pair of famous lovers can you name who stayed together all their days? The pages of history are studded with rue stories of married love that endured for a lifetime. The love of Winston Churchill for his wife, his darling Clementine, Mark Twain, who daily wrote, "Love seems the swiftest, but it is the slowest of all growths. No man or woman knows what perfect love is until they have been married a quarter of a century."

I hope that woman and her lover will read this and realize that I deeply appreciate my husband's love. My husband is a lover—not in the selfish sense. A lover who wanted to protect me in the legal contract of marriage. A lover who stood beside me in church, before the sight of God and a congregation of witnesses and openly vowed to love, honor and cherish me, all his days.

A lover who cared enough for me that he asked me to marry him."

stop the conversion of farm land to other use.
What is frightening about the NDP minister's announcement is the implication that ALL farm land will be preserved.
In addition, Mr. Stupich has made no reference to any plan for compensation.

Mr. Gowland has stated that he favors just and fair compensation. But, he insists that we must have a plan that will preserve PRIME agricultural land. This is a moderate fair-minded position.

SEWAGE PROBLEM

Sir: We, as immediate neighbors, (eight households altogether) of the Orchard Park sewage pumping station on Benvoulin Road, are actually those people who have to suffer the most from this shopping centre sewage stink. Maybe worse than the stink itself is the spill of sewage around the truck at every pumping time, which seems to us hygienically unbearable, especially during the hot summer weather. We contacted the management of Orchard Park, but had to realize the unavailability of their part. We were willing to understand this multitude sewage-by-truck transportation as a temporary measure only.

Considering the present dialogues for and against a change of this sewage problem, we feel a kind of hostility against us by all those who are trying to keep up this sewage pumping and trucking situation for ever. Canada Safeway Ltd., has just completed the construction of a large sewage disposal field on their property, along the immediate west side border of Benvoulin Road which makes it hardly more than 100 feet from two nearest water wells. The large sewage quantity from the Safeway building, estimated sewage volume equivalent as from 12 to 15 families, pumped into this disposal field, makes us wonder and concerned about our water quality from our wells in the near future.

There is a very poor seepage and high ground water table under the disposal field, whereas our land just across the Benvoulin Road starts into a gravel pit. Looking at these facts who can tell which way this large volume of sewage will flow.

JOHN KUALES, Benvoulin Road.

WORD BATTLE

Sir: I note with keen interest the word battle between your correspondents Syd Gowland and Mary Serwa.

Mrs. Serwa is a land owner who wants to retain the right to develop her property.

Mr. Gowland is a city dweller who has witnessed with dismay the mindless kind of development that has been alienating the agricultural lands in our Valley.

The particular area in question, Glenora, is one of the least valuable agricultural areas that surround our Orchard City. Much of the Glenora land that is presently given over to agriculture probably should never have been so developed.

But, this generalization has flaws: there are some truly fine farms properties within the area. What we must have—immediately—is a regional plan that will take into account relative agricultural worth. Those farms which are not naturally endowed with climatic and soil advantages could well be allowed to have other uses.

The provincial government's minister of agriculture has recently served notice that legislation is being prepared to

SENTENCE SUSPENDED

VANCOUVER (CP)—William Henry Mackenzie, 30, was given a suspended sentence Tuesday after he was convicted in provincial court of illegally selling 7,500 shares of Sison Lake Mines Ltd. Judge John Anderson said a factor in the sentence was that the crown took two years to bring the case to trial.

BOOK CORNER

By JACK TRACY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Every year hundreds of Newfoundlanders take to the Atlantic ice in the annual seal hunt. In recent years controversy has surrounded the hunt because of cruelty to the seal pups.

In Death on the Ice, writer Cassie Brown with author Harold Horwood tells of the cruelty to the sealers. Her book deals specifically with the great Newfoundland sealing disaster of 1914 when 78 men from one ship died on the ice. Many survivors of that disaster were crippled for life when frozen limbs were amputated.

The book is the result of two years of intensive research by Cassie Brown. St. John's writer and newspaper reporter.

While the story is factual, the book reads like a novel with the author building up suspense. But the only liberty she takes with the facts is to restore the dialect in which the sealers actually spoke.

Most of the story comes from the Newfoundland Archives which held the records of the investigations into the tragedy. But the cold words of the official record come alive with the dialect of the Newfoundlanders—a dialect that is a mixture of that heard in Ireland and the west of England.

Author Brown takes the story from the time the sealer Newfoundland sailed from St. John's for the icefields to the northeast on March 9, 1914. A little more than half her men returned alive from that hunt.

Through an incredible series of errors, miscalculations and misunderstandings the Newfoundland sealers, poorly equipped and only lightly clad, were left on the ice for two days and nights while sealing vessels sailed around them, heedless of their plight.

SHOCKED COUNTRY

Newfoundland was shocked when the extent of the tragedy became known.

Cassie Brown's book is not only the record of a disaster. She goes deeply into the background of the impoverished sealers who went to the "front" for a few dollars in cash they could earn. Cash was something they rarely saw.

The writer comes down hard on the wealthy merchants of Water Street in St. John's who ran everything on the island and kept the fishermen almost in bondage.

"That was the system," she writes. "The fishery brought the greater wealth to the wealthy and a bare existence to the masses. Because generation after generation was born to poverty and incredible hardship and died in the same circumstances, the fishermen accepted the system. They were a hardy, manly breed. The sea moulded their character."

Much of the story deals with Codman Abram Kean, Newfoundland's great sealing leader. It was Kean who took aboard his ship a sealing crew from the Newfoundland then after a mutiny—that was what Newfoundlanders call a between-means—snack—put them back on the ice.

HAD NO WIRELESS
Kean's own son Weston, captain of the Newfoundland, thought the crew had remained on the ship. Old Abram Kean thought they had returned to their own ship. Wireless had been removed from the Newfoundland because the owners did not think it worth the money so Weston Kean could not question his father.

Fear of the stern old Kean prevented his subordinates from telling him of their growing apprehension over the fate of the sealing crew. Forty-eight stormy hours passed before the real story was uncovered.

A public commission of inquiry was held to investigate the cause of the tragedy and the condition of the seal hunt in general. But as the author puts it, the investigation "accomplished little."

Although old Kean was the central figure in the tragedy, he continued to hunt seals for 20 years after the disaster and in 1934 he was admitted to the Order of the British Empire for having killed more seals than any other man in history.

When the card index of the original edition of Harrap's Standard French and English Dictionary was destroyed in the Second World War, the painstaking task of setting up another index for a new edition was started.

That was in 1945 and it was done by the wearisome method of cutting up copies of the 1940 edition and pasting each head word on a separate card.

Now the work has been done and the new edition of what has come to be regarded as an unsurpassed reference work appeared this fall. It is in two huge volumes in the French-English part. Its editors, Frenchman Rene Ledesert and his British-born wife, hope to complete the English-French part by 1978.

The job has occupied Ledesert for 25 years. His wife, who worked on economic intelligence in Britain in the Second World War, joined the Harrap team in 1960.

During a book-launching visit to Canada, Mrs. Ledesert recalled that the number of words in the new dictionary represents a 55-per-cent increase over the 1944 edition.

Some of the dictionary's words owe their origin to growing scientific and technological knowledge since the war—like hushbaby for moon landing.

But some old French-Canadian words are there too. The dictionary credits barachois—a sand-bar to the French-Canadian language. It is a word commonly used even by French-speaking Acadians in Nova Scotia. Another French-Canadian example is ourisson, bullfrog.

Even "franglais" gets into the new dictionary and the editors include such English penetrations of the French language as "un parking" and "le pipeline."

THE WORLD TODAY

'Global Village' Not Credible

By JOHN D. HARBRO
Foreign Affairs Analyst
Thomson News Service

I don't really believe, as communications guru Marshall McLuhan insists, "the world is a global village."

It is true big governments and multi-national corporations contact each other through instantaneous telecommunications wondrously like Telex, satellites or even video-telephone to discuss diplomacy and business.

But the basic messages which should link diverse peoples and societies in our world—common human problems of survival, suffering and hope—are rarely transmitted via our communications technology.

In the rarified atmosphere of scientific achievement, we are living in an "electric age" as Professor McLuhan also puts it. What we have communicated by print and how we communicate it, since printing was invented at the dawn of the Renaissance, will have to be changed to make sense in his "electric age."

Most of the great human messages of the print era, the Christian truths of the Bible which was the first major book printed in the West, and the books of the intellectuals who produced the ideas of the French Revolution—and most social revolutions after it—have been misunderstood and twisted by men.

WAS GREAT THINKER

We are definitely not a "global village" when some can say the late Joseph Goebbels, one of the greatest propagandists of all time, could have been one of the greatest advertising idea-men of all time, given a different place and circumstance for his talent in history. Those who have said this, obviously believe it.

Take a current situation which shows how far away we are from sharing common human problems of suffering and loneliness.

The powerful and aggressive anti-Vietnam war groups in the United States and in Canada have told us much about the suffering of the North Vietnamese people from indiscriminate, heavy U.S. air raids.

But it is impossible to communicate to virulent anti-war protesters that the thousands of American servicemen lingering in North Vietnam's prisoner-of-war-camps, are as much the pawn of war makers as the peasants they have bombed.

Does the average Canadian, even one with a recent family experience of loss, truly understand or care, about the torture of waiting for a husband or son held prisoner in North Vietnam—which many American women are enduring, some of them for as long as seven years?

WIVES MUZZLED

Between 1964 and 1969, a hard-hearted U.S. defence department ordered these very unhappy women not to discuss their husbands' imprisonment with the press, or even to communicate with each other about their captured husbands. But in 1969, Washington's callousness was too much for the wife of a U.S. Navy captain, the most senior North Vietnamese prisoner of war.

She told the press the story of her anguish about the man long gone out of her life, with whom there has been no direct negotiation while her family grows up and changes and tires of waiting for a father who hasn't come home.

The result was the formation of a protesting association of these wives who had been misunderstood even in their own neighborhoods as to why they would wait for men often not listed as prisoners of war, but definitely not known to be dead.

Think of them at Christmas, these wives not so far from us in the cities and towns of urban and mid-America as your exercise in bringing "the global village" closer to reality.

CANADA'S STORY

Old Age Pensions Were Political Deal

Canada's 16th Parliament opened Dec. 9, 1926, and the session included an act to provide old age pensions. Prime Minister Mackenzie King was keeping a promise he had made to Progressives and Independents who had kept him in power.

King's first election victory was in 1921, and even then he was two seats short of a majority in the House of Commons. The Progressives returned 65 members, while the Conservatives elected only 50.

The Progressives held an even stronger hand after the election in 1925. The Conservatives won 118 seats, the Liberals 101, and the Progressives 24, but the Progressives made it possible for the Liberals and Mackenzie King to stay in power.

There was another general election in 1926, following the "constitutional crisis" and this time the Liberals were safe. They won 128 seats, the Conservatives 91, and the Progressives 26. Nevertheless Mackenzie King kept his promise and introduced the first Old Age Pension Act.

It was not generous even in those days when the best meat could be obtained for 50 cents a pound and calves' liver was cat food. Pensions of $20 a month were to be paid to people over 70 years of age who had lived in Canada for at least 20 years. Even so, they were subject to a means test.

The bill passed the House of Commons but was rejected by the Senate 11 days later on the grounds that public welfare was a provincial responsibility.

A federal-provincial plan was arranged in 1927, but it did not include all the provinces until 1936.

The first universal old age pensions plan, without a means test, did not go into effect until 1952.

Domestic System To Be Discussed

OKANAGAN MISSION — Progress on installing a domestic and irrigation water system will be discussed at the annual general meeting of the Okanagan Mission Irrigation District at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Community Hall.

Last year ratepayers decided to put in the system. It is expected to serve about 630 residences beginning next year. However, work has been delayed about three months, and it is questionable if pipes can be installed when there is frost, commented secretary C. E. Sladen.

Three people will be elected to serve as trustees for three years. Terms of chairman Eain Lamont and Geoff Sarsons end this year. John Swaisland quit the board. Greg Withers and Tom Hazell are the other members.

Elderly Resident Gets Heart Aid

RUTLAND (Staff) — An elderly Montgomery Road man claims a "first," but can't show it to anyone.

Henry Nelson, 83, has just had a third pacemaker installed to speed up his heart action. About the size of a small change purse, it was implanted in his abdomen during a two-hour operation in the Vancouver General Hospital. The others were in his chest.

"We were told this is the first such pacemaker in B.C.," said Mrs. Nelson. "It has a battery good for about two or three years." Pacemakers are made in Minneapolis and cost about $4,500.

The first pacemaker was installed two years ago during a five-hour operation in Kelowna General Hospital. The second was installed in Vancouver. Mr. Nelson was in hospital about 12 days before the operation and two weeks after.

NO DECISION

RUTLAND (Staff) — Teen Town members have not decided what to do with about $1,000 in the bank. At a meeting Wednesday night, it was decided to wait until all bills are paid. Suggestion earlier included giving to the Community Chest and March of Dimes, also buying hampers for less fortunate people.

patrols were organized earlier. Most schools use pupils in higher grades. However, since this Winfield school has only Grades 1-3, the B.C. department of education authorized hiring adults. Fears have been expressed about safety of children on the busy highway.

The situation was precipitated by the death of a young girl some months ago. She was struck by a car while walking on the highway shoulder. The speed limit through the built-up area was reduced.

Gordon Johnson, who represents this area on the school board, said a woman has taken the job until Christmas, and another person is available then.

The person will be on duty from 8:30 a.m. to 9 a.m. and 2:10 p.m. to 2:40 p.m. Older elementary children attend Wood Lake Elementary School. Secondary pupils attend George Elliot Secondary School here.

Get Large Crowd At Joint Service

A large crowd participated in an ecumenical service this week. It was arranged by Rev. Alan Jackson, Anglican staff priest who looks after St. Aidan's Church in Rutland.

The service was in St. Michael and All Angels' Church in Kelowna. Also participating were Rev. Dr. E. H. Birdsall, United Church presbytery officer; Rev. Robert Stobie and Rev. John Davidson, ministers of the two United congregations in the city; Rev. Francis Godderis and Rev. Patrick McCarthy, Catholic priests; Rev. David Stewart, Presbyterian and Rev. James McCullum, Anglican staff priest. An ecumenical choir also was featured.

Sale Postponed Because Of Cold

RUTLAND (Staff) — The remaining 216 boxes of mint parties still have not been sold by members of secondary school bands. A third attempt was to have been made this week, but was cancelled because of the cold. Another sale will be held later, says bandmaster Arnold Peters.

Bands from the junior and senior schools, the junior glee club and the Grade 8 band will present a concert at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the junior school auditorium. A silver collection will be taken. Proceeds will go to the Rutland Band Parents' Association, which supplies uniforms and expensive instruments.

Fill Complaint Gets No Action

No action will be taken by the regional board on a complaint from a Winfield resident about fill being given to another man.

This year a road was built to serve a new building, and the B.C. highways department received permission to dump earth on the second man's property. H. G. PEACHLAND, B.C. (CP) — Brenda Mines Ltd. reported Wednesday a net loss of $1,877,000 or 43.8 cents a share in the first nine months of 1972, compared with net earnings of $488,000 or 11.4 cents a share in the same period in 1971.

In a report to shareholders the company said a modest reduction in mining and milling costs at its Okanagan operation was offset by lower realizations on concentrate sales due to weaker metal prices, higher treatment costs and the higher value of the Canadian dollar.

A GIFT OF LOVE

Christmas is sharing was the theme chosen by the Couples Club of First United Church, Kelowna, for their annual Christmas party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas. Instead of exchanging gifts the members presented their box of gifts to Mental Health Kelowna for the patients' Christmas party. Seen here on the left are Mr. and Mrs. Art Lynn, president couple of the club who made the presentations to, left to right, Mrs. C. B. Feedham and Mrs. John Olinger of the Mental Health Kelowna organization for distribution. The evening included a variety program of songs, skits and readings by the members who each 'did their own thing.' The response to the annual appeal for gifts has been good according to Mrs.

Feedham. Residents wishing to donate to this cause may leave presents at the health centre building on Queensway. Members of the organization will be wrapping the gifts on Tuesday morning. (Courier Photo)

Pre-Christmas Zero Moods

By MARY GREER

The only thing that eases the pain of this cold weather is when the temperatures recorded for the prairies show them to be 30 and 40 below zero, and the other comforting thought is that the old family jolopy of pre-Okanagan vintage has a block heater.

When the new senior citizens' complex on Water Street is officially opened, will the theme song be, Hail, Hail the Gang's All Here, or will they sing, "I don't want to play in your yard, I don't love you any more?"

Christmas shopping—You're older than you think, if you can remember——The Eaton beauty doll.

—The Ford coupe for $695 advertised by the Morrison-Thompson Hardware Company of Kelowna.

—The Home of Victor records was the Kelowna Furniture Company.

—That pearl beads in plush boxes was the present of her dreams at Knowles.

—That handkerchiefs were the popular gift everywhere—at Jernan Hunt Ltd. and at J. F. Fumerton's where handkerchiefs in pretty boxes included lace trimmed, pongee, linen, colored lawn, plain linen with hemstitched edges, children's picture handkerchiefs, boys' fancy bordered ones, men's Exelider.

—Fumerton's also advertised felt slippers for men, women and children.

The BPO Elks' dance engaged the Banff orchestra for their annual dance.

—When the Thomas Lawson Ltd. store sold double-knit silk scarves, 72 inches long for women and under lingerie gifts for Christmas were white crepe de chine bloomers with lace trim for $5.75 (the good old days?).

—When P. B. Willets and Co. had books for Christmas shoppers which included Boys' Own, Chums, Girls' Own and the Trail Makers' Annual.

—When the Waterman fountain pen and eversharp pencil were considered THE gift.

—When Waldron's Grocery advised housewives to get their orders in for dried fruit early.

In case you're wondering what year it was, it was the year that Richard Smith of East Kelowna captured the sweepstakes prize at the Toronto Winter Fair for the best box of apples of any variety on exhibit.—It was also the year that 450 people attended the ninth annual firemen's ball.

But back to 1972 Christmas—if you're wondering what to get the male on your list who has everything, why not a pair of earrings?

According to a recent release from New York, earrings are the latest for men. "Until recently they were confined mainly to members of motorcycle gangs, some blacks and other minority groups. But like long hair—now everybody's long-haired and so earrings are the next step."

One owner of a jewelry store on Lexington Avenue, said he had placed the earring of only 150 men in 1970 but so far this year he had 500 men customers. Everybody from Vietnam vets to ballet dancers are getting their ears pierced," he said.

Men are quoted as preferring a gold post at $15 a pair, but one customer bought a set with small diamonds for $200.

Dr. Walter Fairservis, chairman of the department of anthropology at Vassar College and a research associate at the American Museum of Natural History, said earrings are neither inherently masculine nor feminine.

"Like hair length or wearing long pants, they are a fashion whose popularity waxes and wanes over time," he said.

Fairservis pointed out that the custom of men wearing earrings was widespread among such Balkan subcultures as that of the Gypsies until the break-up of the Anglo-Hungarian Empire in 1918.

Earrings were a common ornament on men in England at least up to the time of the roundhead, who sent Charles I to the block in the 17th century with a pearl in his left ear.

The tradition remained alive among navy personnel until it was banned by the British navy in the mid-19th century and by the United States only 50 years ago.

HITHER and YON

Arriving at the Kelowna airport tonight is Donald Dann of Queenston, Tasmania, Australia, who will be visiting with his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Brian Vandale and his granddaughter, Meredith Kathleen. This is the first time he has seen his 6½ month old granddaughter and will be his first Christmas in Canada in 14 years. Mr. Dann will share in all the family festivities before returning on Dec. 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anstett of Kelowna have just returned home from a 10 day visit to Dayville, Ore., where they stayed with their old friend, Mrs. Nellie Payne, who lives by herself and looks after her big home and two cats. While there they took part in Mrs. Payne's 85th birthday party, hosted by her neighbor, Mrs. G. Laughlin. Old time music was played after the turkey dinner with all the trimmings.

Eileen Utely, former Kelowna resident and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Utely, now of Vancouver, was a guest at a party thrown for finance minister John Turner in Ottawa. While at the party she met Mr. Turner's wife, Jill, as well as the mayor and deputy mayor of Ottawa.

A miscellaneous shower in honor of December bride-elect, Dale Doey was co-hosted by Anne Scott and Mona Thompson at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. M. E. Marsh, Jones Street. The honoree received many lovely gifts from the gathering which included her immediate friends and school friends. Miss Doey's marriage to Tony Chase is an event of Dec. 16 in the Lutheran Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Schleppe of Burne Avenue have their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Schleppe of Vancouver visiting with them until the new year, after four months abroad. The couple left on vacation from Vancouver Aug. 14 and flew to Honolulu for some fun and sightseeing before departure on the Orinova ocean liner for Sydney, Aus. They had a stop over in Fiji and spent three weeks in New Zealand.

From New Zealand the couple boarded the Canberra for Sydney where they spent two months touring the area. On the way home, the Schleppe's flew to Tahiti and also toured Acapulco and Mexico City before departing for Vancouver. They drove from Vancouver to Kelowna to visit their parents.

Mrs. Tony Schleppe is the daughter of Mrs. Helen Topolinsky of Ruland.

Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Cole of Okanagan Mission are pleased to announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter Elaine May to Dale Matthew Maxwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Robert Maxwell of Kelowna. The wedding will take place at St. Andrew's Anglican Church on Feb. 3, 1973 at 4 p.m.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN C. STINSON

Bridesmaid Of 50 Years Ago Attends Golden Wedding

A come and go tea was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Stinson of Rose Avenue in honor of their 50th anniversary celebration on Dec. 9.

More than 50 guests attended, many of them long standing friends and neighbors of former years in Manitoba. Mrs. Stinson's childhood friend and bridesmaid, Mrs. Hilliard Ferriss was among the guests.

The table was centred by a three-tiered wedding cake. Mrs. Flora Carefoot took care of the guest book.

This past summer many friends and relatives visited Mr. and Mrs. Stinson during their vacation and in September the couple visited Manitoba. The trip was a gift from their son Clifford.

Mr. and Mrs. Stinson were married by Rev. Lloyd in Vir-den, Man., where they were both born and raised. The young couple farmed in the Hargrave district for 20 years and moved to the coast in 1945 and retired to Kelowna in 1961.

Mr. Stinson was a veteran of both wars. They had two sons, Lorne, an RCAF pilot who died in 1943 and Clifford who lives in Surrey with his wife Cecelia and two children. The Stinsons also have two great grandchildren.

Several of the guests provided ed music in the evening which was enjoyed by all and was also recorded.

Numerous cards, gifts, phone calls and telegrams of congratulations were received. Among them were ones from Prime Minister P. E. Trudeau; Governor-General Roland Mitchener of Canada; Premier Dave Barrett of British Columbia; leader of the opposition, W. A. C. Bennett; Lieutenant Governor John Nicholson of British Columbia and Mayor Hilbert Roth of Kelowna.

AFTER 39 SEASONS

NFL 'Nice Guys' Trying For First League Title

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
For 39 seasons Pittsburgh Steelers have been the "nice guys" of the National Football League. Not that they've always finished last; but they've never finished first.
On Sunday, with a little bit of help from Cincinnati Bengals Saturday, the Steelers can finally achieve that goal, a championship—the American Conference Central Division crown.
Pittsburgh has to beat Houston Oilers and the Bengals have to defeat Cleveland Browns to make the Steelers dream come true.
Atlanta Falcons, in only their seventh NFL season, are within a victory of a title. They need some help, too. If Atlanta can knock off San Francisco 49ers Sunday and St. Louis Cardinals can upset Los Angeles Rams, the Falcons will own the National Conference West crown.
Green Bay, no stranger to championships, were a pre-season pick this year to be a by-stander to the NFC Central match-up between Minnesota Vikings and Detroit Lions.
The Packers, at 8-4, hold a one-game lead over the Vikings and Lions. But, unlike the Steelers and Falcons, Green Bay needs no help to clinch its division. A victory over Minnesota will wrap it up. Even if the Packers and Lions finish tied for the lead at the end of the season, Green Bay would get the title by virtue of its two victories over Detroit.

In Saturday's other game, Dallas Cowboys entertain Washington Redskins.
Sunday's other games have Miami Dolphins against the Giants in New York, Detroit at Buffalo Bills, Chicago Bears at Philadelphia Eagles, San Diego Chargers at Denver Broncos, Baltimore Colts at Kansas City Chiefs and New England Patriots at New Orleans Saints.
All eyes in Houston's Astrodome will be on Pittsburgh rookie running back Franco Harris, within reach of several NFL records.
He's 40 yards shy of the 1,000-yard mark for the season, a mark achieved by only four other first-year players, and is 146 short of the 1,105-yard rookie rushing record set last year by Green Bay's John Brockington.

In addition, if he gains 100 yards against the Oilers, it'll be his seventh straight 100-plus game, breaking the record he now shares with former Cleveland star Jim Brown.
Finally, by going over 100 in each of his final two games, Harris will equal the mark of nine 100-yard games in a season, also held by Brown.
Cleveland, still in the AFC Central championship race, would still have a shot at the conference wild card slot with a loss, but the Bengals must win to keep even those slim hopes alive.
The Falcons hold a half-game edge over the 49ers and Rams. Spearheading their drive to first has been quarterback Bob Berry, No. 2 among NFC passers, and a running game powered by Dave Hampton and Art Malone.
LEADS RUNNING GAME
Brockington has carried the major portion of the Green Bay attack, grinding out 908 yards, enough for third place among NFC rushers.
Chester Marcol, the Packers' second-round draft choice has succeeded on 27 of 39 field goal attempts for 105 points, putting him No. 1 in NFC scoring and within two points of league-leading Bobby Howfield of the Jets.
Miami, by winning, would become the fifth team in NFL history to win 13 games in a season and within one victory of the first perfect season since the 1942 Chicago Bears.
Washington, Miami and Oakland have wrapped up divisional championships, but for the remaining 12, it's still a scramble for the remaining five playoff berths.

Buckaroos Lose In Extra Period

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Kamloops Rockets appear to have found the answer to beating Penticton Broncos as they handed the Okanagan Division leaders in the B.C. Junior Hockey League their second home-ice loss of the season Friday, taking a 7-6 win.

In Vernon Dave Caldwell's goal at the 3:32 mark of a 10-minute sudden-death overtime period gave the Essos a 5-4 win over the Vancouver Villars.

And in Nanaimo Lindsay Thompson's goal with 15 seconds remaining in overtime play powered the Clippers to an 11-10 victory over Kelowna Buckaroos.

In Penticton the Rockets, repeating their strategy of 10 days ago, outskated and outchecked the Broncos to cut Penticton's lead over Kamloops to seven points.

Chris McMasters led the Rockets to the win with two goals while Don Ashby, Mark Severyn, Kenn Dodd, Butch Owhar and Brian McLean scored the others.

For Penticton Chad Campbell potted three goals with Dan Ashman adding a pair and Doug Lawton scoring once.

Dan Kuntz, Don Murdoch, Fred Perepolki and Dallas Chappell scored for Vernon. Doug Shantz scored twice for Vancouver and Brian McCloskey and Sandy Bain scored one apiece.

Thompson's overtime goal, his third of the game, capped a rally by the Clippers, who tied the score with 31 seconds remaining.

RECALLED
NEW YORK (AP) — New York Rangers of the National Hockey League recalled defenceman Larry Sacharuk from their Providence farm club Friday for weekend duty against New York Islanders.

16-Year-Old West German Skier Wins First Race Towards Cup

VAL D'ISERE, France (AP) — Pamela Behr, a 16-year-old West German blonde, won the women's slalom race in the Critérium of the First Snow skiing competition today, taking her first World Cup victory.

Judy Crawford of Toronto, fourth in the combined Alpine events here last year, was sixth and Larue Kreiner of Timmins, Ont., was 11th in the 61-girl field. Carolyn Oughton of Calgary was 27th.

Miss Behr was clocked in 42.09 and 42.26 seconds for the two legs of 51 and 52 gates over a vertical drop of 140 metres. Her total time of one minute 24.35 seconds beat Odile Chalvin of France, who finished second with 1:25.71 and another girl, Patricia Emonet, 1:26.15.

Rosi Mittermaier of West Germany and Annemarie Proell of Austria, placed second and third after the first heat, both fell on the final.

France's Daniele Debernard was fourth with 1:26.27 and Monika Kaserer of Austria fifth in 1:27.05.

Miss Crawford, 21, followed with legs of 43.12 and 44.41 for a total of 1:27.53. Miss Kreiner was clocked in 1:28.33 and Miss Oughton in 1:33.08.

The defending world champion, Miss Proell, second with 41.87 behind Miss Emonet after the first leg, caught a ski on one of the slalom markers about halfway down. Miss Mittermaier, third in 41.92 after the first heat, tumbled just before the finish.

Miss Crawford had a reasonably good first heat that put her in the top 10. Then she really turned it on in the second run until she looked some soft snow on the second-last gate, slid through the final gate and quickly got up to step through the finish.

"I'm not sure exactly what happened," she said. "I caught a tip or something and when I got up I only had to step through the finish."

It gave her six points toward the World Cup.

Two other Canadian girls failed to finish. Kathy Kreiner, Laurie's sister, and Ginny Honeyman of Beaconsfield, Que., did not complete the 103 gates.

3 ways to make it big.

STATION WAGON: Frankly, our station wagon is colossal. Inside, there's almost twice the cargo space of average wagons, and plenty of horsepower. Even the outside is tremendous—because it's small. So it fits where average wagons can't. In less than average parking spots.

VOLKSWAGEN SQUAREBACK: Some big sedan owners wouldn't have a Squareback.

Although it has about 50% more luggage room than the biggest sedan, boasts electronic fuel injection and front disc brakes, there's one drawback. It doesn't cost very much.

412 WAGON: With many luxury wagons extras cost extra.

Not so with the 412 luxury wagon. Radial tires, front disc brakes, electronic fuel injection — all standard equipment. And how many wagons can you think of that are this big on quality, but this small on price. We can only think of three.

Few things in life work as well as a Volkswagen.

No Support For Blazers; Hull Leads Jets To Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

The 9,000-seat Convention Hall in Philadelphia hasn't echoed particularly loudly to its most recent tenants, Philadelphia Blazers, but rarely has it been so silent as it was Friday night.

But nobody, well, almost nobody, showed up to see the Blazers finally solve New York goaltender Peter Donnelly's jinx.

Only 790 fans were listed in attendance at Convention Hall when Don Herriman ended Donnelly's string of shutout periods six and launched the Blazers to a 3-1 victory over the Raiders.

Elsewhere, Bobby Hull led a third-period blitz at Winnipeg that propelled the Jets to a 6-2 win over Houston Aeros; Reggie Fleming's second goal of the night gave Chicago Cougars a 4-3 overtime win over Minnesota Fighting Saints; and Los Angeles Sharks clipped Alberta Oilers 4-2.

JETS ON 7-GAME TRIP

The Jets embark on a seven-game road trip tonight at Cleveland against the Crusaders while Quebec Les Nordiques visit Chicago. In afternoon contests, Ottawa Nationals are in Philadelphia and New York at New England Whalers.

In Sunday's schedule, Quebec is at Ottawa, Alberta Oilers at Los Angeles Sharks and Cleveland at Minnesota.

Brian Bradley gave New York a 1-0 lead at 13:41 of the first period at Philadelphia before Herriman scored his eighth of the year at 15:18 to end Donnelly's shutout string.

Donnelly, last year with Jersey Devils of the Eastern Hockey League, blanked the Blazers by identical 5-0 scores Oct. 15 and Nov. 19—both at Madison Square Garden.

Andre Lacroix notched the tie-breaker in the second period and Bryan Campbell added an insurance goal in the third.

Hull, playing-coach of the Jets, scored two goals in Winnipeg's four-goal third-period upsurge. His first broke a 2-2 tie and his second ended the scoring five minutes later for 4:31 fans.

Steve Cuddie also scored two goals for Winnipeg. The others went to Chris Bortolazzo and Jean-Guy Gratton. Ed Hoekstra and Jack Stanfield tallied for Houston.

Fleming's goal at 4:10 of the overtime in front of 2,838 Chicago fans was the first shot of the period on Minnesota goaltender Jack McCartan whose solid 32-save effort in regulation time set up the extra session.

Jan Popiel and Bob Sencinski also contributed to the Chicago victory—its seventh of the season—while Terry Ball, Wayne Connelly and Len Liljholm connected for the Saints.

Ted McCaskill scored twice in front of 4,217 Los Angeles fans at the Sharks' evened their record at 14-14-1 to tie Minnesota for second place in the Western Division, 11 points behind Winnipeg.

Oil Kings Rally At Home To Regain Top Spot In League

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Edmonton Oil Kings regained first place in the Western Division of the Western Canada Hockey League Friday night by downing Victoria Cougars 5-3.

The home-ice win gave Edmonton 32 points, one more than New Westminster Bruins, while Victoria remains in fifth place with 15.

In other games, Saskatoon Blades edged Winnipeg Jets 5-4 to move within three points of Brandon Wheat Kings who have 40 points at top of the East Division. Winnipeg holds the cellar position in the East with 15 points.

Flin Flon Bombers trounced Vancouver Nats 8-1 and are two points behind the Blades in the standings while the Nats continue to flounder at the bottom of the West Division with 13.

Regina Pats extended their unbeaten streak to seven games with a 7-2 victory over Calgary Centennials and stayed one point ahead of Flin Flon in the East. Calgary is in fourth place in the West, one point behind Medicine Hat who have 30 points.

Darcy Rota scored his 36th and 37th goals of the year to lead Edmonton to its victory. Randy Smith, Wayne Perkins and Fred Comrie were the other Oil King marksmen while Brad Richardson, Frank Hyndman and Kim Clarkson notched Victoria's goals.

In Saskatoon, the Blades grabbed their 16th straight win after trailing Winnipeg 3-1 in the second period.

Russ Walker paced Saskatoon with three goals and Pat Price and Bob Bourne chipped in with one each. Don Larway with two and Dave Marin and Brian Dick replied for the Jets.

Big guns for the Pats in their home-ice victory were Mike Wanchuk and Glen Burdon who scored two goals each while Dennis Sobchuk, Brad Anderson and Clark Gillies added single goals. Calgary got its goals from Danny Mandryk and Dan Gare.

Bucks Use Fast Break To Lead In The Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Milwaukee Bucks continue to lead the National Basketball Association's Midwest Division.

With Kareem Abdul-Jabbar grabbing 17 rebounds to set up numerous fast breaks, the Bucks trounced Golden State Warriors 124-91 Friday night to retain a one-half game lead on Chicago Bulls, who whipped Philadelphia 76ers 118-102.

"We scored 42 points on the fast break," said coach Larry Costello. "That's why we scored 120 points, not 90 or 89 like we've been doing."

Abdul-Jabbar also paced the Milwaukee scoring with 19 points while Bob Dandridge and Oscar Robertson had 17 apiece. Rick Barry had 26 for the Warriors.

Elsewhere, Boston Celtics downed Cleveland Cavaliers 96-87, Buffalo Braves edged New York Knicks 91-84, Atlanta Hawks drubbed Baltimore 134-115 and moved past the Bulls atop the Central Division, Los Angeles Lakers crushed Seattle SuperSonics 119-100, Detroit Pistons beat Kansas City-Omaha Kings 113-100 and Houston Rockets defeated Portland Trail Blazers 114-108.

Los Angeles used a balanced attack—Happy Hairston's 28 points, Gail Goodrich's 22, Keith Erickson's 21, and Jim McMillian's 18—to romp past Seattle and run their perfect home record against the Sonics to 17-0.

Detroit tied a club record with its sixth consecutive home whose Fred Carter took scoring honors with 31.

Dave Cowens' 25 points and 18 rebounds helped Boston turn back Cleveland and take a one-game lead over New York in the Atlantic Division.

Buffalo, which has lost all six starts against the Knicks in New York over the years, beat them for the fourth time in six home meetings.

Dick Garrett was the Braves' high scorer with 21 points. Walt Frazier was high for New York with 26.

PISTOL PETE FIRES 34

Pete Maravich with 34 points, and Lou Hudson, with 31, led Atlanta over Baltimore and past the Bulls by one-half game.

Los Angeles used a balanced attack—Happy Hairston's 28 points, Gail Goodrich's 22, Keith Erickson's 21, and Jim McMillian's 18—to romp past Seattle and run their perfect home record against the Sonics to 17-0.

Detroit tied a club record with its sixth consecutive home triumph as Bob Lanier and Dave Bing led a fourth-period surge that turned back KC-Omaha.

Lanier finished with 37 points and 21 rebounds while Bing had 27 points and 13 assists.

Houston survived a second-half scoring spree by Portland's Geoff Petrie and Sidney Wicks to beat the Trail Blazers. Petrie led all scorers with 34 points while Jimmy Walker topped Houston with 24.

Esposito And Team Canada Impressive-Russian Magazine

OTTAWA (CP) — Boston Bruins centre Phil Esposito deserves special mention for his play for Team Canada in their series against Soviet Russia, says the current issue of a magazine published by the Russian embassy in Canada.

The magazine, Soviet Union today, said that because Esposito played in all eight games and demonstrated "powerful play," he drew the special attention of Russian hockey fans and the press.

"That is, possibly, the reason why the condemnation of Phil Esposito's roughness and pugnacity in the second game in Moscow was so turbulent and unanimous," said the article signed by Vladimir Kirilyuk.

It said that this should not be taken as typical of the play of Esposito and his National Hockey League team-mates.

Canada won four of the eight games. The Russians won three and the other was a tie.

GAMES INTERESTING
"The more so since, on the whole, the games of the U.S.S.R.-Canada series witnessed a very interesting sporting battle," continued the article.

"This was a festival of big-time hockey that unquestionably benefited both teams."

Also given special mention by the writer were Paul Henderson of Toronto Maple Leafs, Yvan Cournoyer and Frank Mahovlich of Montreal Canadiens, and Bobby Clarke of Philadelphia Flyers.

The play of Team Canada "makes an excellent impression" and with every passing game, they got better, said the article.

It said that the Canadians, after losing the first game in Moscow, lost faith in beating the Russians "through ordinary means" and resorted "to deliberate dirty playing and intimidation."

Such play in Russia "is unanimously condemned and stopped," he drew the special attention of Russian hockey fans and the press.

SHOWED ABILITY
But when they played "within the rules," the Canadians showed ability not yet acquired by the Russian team.

However the Canadians showed weaker physical condition than the Russians as evidenced by the Soviet team scoring five goals in the last period of the first game in Moscow, noted the article.

It said the Russians played better team hockey than the Canadians and it was only when Team Canada borrowed "the tactics of European hockey" of close checking that the tide turned in their favor, says the article.

It gave credit to a strong Canadian defence—Gary Bergman of Detroit and Bill White of Chicago were picked out especially—for the Canadians' victory in the series.

"The defence of the Soviet team played unevenly in the Moscow games and looked weaker as compared with the Canadians," said the article.

"Due to the crude blunders of the U.S.S.R. defencemen, several times the puck landed in the Soviet team's net," it said.

RECORD AT AUCTION
LONDON (AP) — A 12th-century gilt bronze statuette, found in a field last May, fetched its owner a record auction price for a pre-19th-century sculpture at Christie's here. The tiny figure of St. John the Evangelist was bought by a London dealer for the equivalent of $38,200. Arthur Davey, an English farm worker, said he came across the statuette while hoeing weeds in a field in Suffolk.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

What They Say Right This Time . . .

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Many elderly people fall and break a hip. From left-handed information, "they say" sometimes the hip breaks and they fall. Would you like to comment? — Mrs. J.F.M.

That's one of the "they say" stories that happens to be true. Of course a good many broken hips are the result of a fall but in a considerable number of other cases a broken hip causes the fall, instead of the fall causing the broken hip.

Time after time in such cases, the patient says that he or she doesn't know why he fell. He didn't slip, didn't stumble. He just fell down and that was it.

The reason is that, as we grow older, our bones tend to become brittle and lose density. The hips bear a substantial part of our weight, and when enough strength is lost in the bone, it can crack as the result of a slight minor movement — or even crack with no added pressure at all.

How to avoid this? Well, our bones are made up of what we call a "matrix," or sort of honeycomb-like structure. The spaces are filled substantially with calcium which gives the bones their strength and density.

Day by day, cell by cell, the bones give up this calcium and replace it with fresh calcium atoms. But in some cases the calcium is lost faster than it is replaced. The bones weaken. The loss of density shows on x-ray, the rays passing more readily through the bones.

Some brittleness is to be expected as we age, but in other cases a disease, osteoporosis, is at work. The research people have found out some things, although not as much as they want and need to learn, about the disease. The exact cause has not yet been determined, although some of the factors are known.

Lack of protein, lack of calcium, hormone changes, and lack of exercise all are involved. Osteoporosis does not develop quickly, and it cannot be overcome quickly, but making sure that the diet contains adequate protein and adequate calcium is the first step in treatment.

Since women are more likely to develop osteoporosis in the years after menopause, it is assumed that menopausal changes in the hormone levels have something to do with it. Therefore administration of hormones is another part of treatment.

Finally, bones gain strength with use, lose it with insufficient exercise. In that sense, bones are like muscles. If you don't use them, they become weaker.

So far as medicine goes for osteoporosis, little has been discovered other than hormones. However, some physicians believe that small doses of fluoride may help the hardness.

The ways to prevent osteoporosis are much the same as the treatment to overcome it: diet that contains plenty of protein (Meat, fish, fowl, cheese, eggs, mainly) and plenty of calcium (milk and dairy products are an outstanding source).

And exercise. That doesn't mean that the elderly person, with osteoporosis should plunge into strenuous exercise. It does mean staying active. Do more walking and less sitting, and it helps the bones retain strength.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: If one did not rinse dishes after washing them with a liquid detergent, would eating from these dishes be harmful to one's health, especially the blood? — C.S.

No. Most of the detergent would drain off and what remains is not harmful.

Lifer Arrested On Traffic Charge

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — A Joyceville Institution prisoner serving life sentence for murder was arrested here for impaired driving and later released by police.

Charles Wilfred Hill, 37, a prisoner at the minimum security farm annex at nearby Joyceville, was on a daily pass to attend classes at Queens University here when arrested. He has not appeared in court on the charge.

Joseph Doyle, annex warden, said Hill returned to the institution Thursday morning. Prison officials and John E. Sampson, Frontenac County Crown attorney, are investigating the incident.

"This thing is completely out of control," said Mr. Sampson who wants to know why Hill was released by police after his arrest and why he was not remanded in court the day after the arrest.

Mr. Doyle said the prisoner has received notice to appear in court but has not been transported to Kingston.

Opening lead — four of hearts.

Let's say you're West and lead a heart against three no-trump. Partner takes the king with the ace and continues with the queen, on which you follow with the three, thus telling partner you started with five hearts.

East now leads the Jack, South following suit, and at this point — before playing to the trick — you have the 10-7-5 left. They are all of equal value and it might seem as though it made no difference which one you played. But, actually, the card you select is of tremendous importance to the discriminating eye. Let's suppose you played the five, which is what most players would do. East, not being a mind reader, would probably return a club and South would thereupon romp home with nine tricks.

Now let's suppose you played the ten of hearts on the Jack, instead of the five. In that case, assuming you and East use the suit preference convention, partner would return a spade. You would take the ace and cash the 7-5 of hearts to put the contract down two.

Playing the suit — preference convention, when you have a choice of which card to play from a group of equal cards, the one you choose indicates the suit you would like partner to play next.

A high card asks partner to play the highest available suit; a low card asks for the lowest available suit.

So, in the present case, where East has no heart to return and a diamond return would be downright ridiculous, there are only two suits left — spades and clubs — for him to choose from. The play of the ten of hearts, a high card, commands East to lead the high suit — spades.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

SUN, DEC. 10

Aries (March 21-April 19): It's Sunday, leave off even thinking about business and material concerns. Be friendly as you do what your community expects of you.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): You will be told you have taken too much. Along with prayer and meditation, you should spend time sorting out your notes and accounts.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Avoiding overdoing is a fine art in this rather busy Sunday. You have quite a range of activities to share with extra people.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): The demand is for your help in some form or another — and while money is one form, it isn't the only or necessarily the best you can give.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Resolve not to respond to trivial provocations or irritations. It is all too easy to blow a moment's conflict into an argument.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You are prone to blunder into the one person you need least to meet this Sunday, particularly in crowds or group movements.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Your gestures are apt to turn out more grandiose than you anticipated, with far greater costs to all. Romance must be pursued.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Differences of opinion crop up on all sides, and yours are no more exempt from criticism than anybody's.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Avoid public involvement rather than general notice. Guard impudence, guard your energy against a possible sudden need.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): This is the week-end of skeletons in closets, the facing of supposedly difficult subjects, only to find you're not so badly off.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): For once be rather discreet about personal plans. Those with claims or relationship will do most of the talking.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20): Home and family life tend to be larger in your view than any public observances. Living your faith is just as well for now.

MON. DEC. 11
Aries (March 21-April 19): While some people turn out to be less co-operative than you thought, anything you promise now has to be delivered, eventually.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Minor differences may distract you from costly technicalities. Pay attention to measurements, accounts, details.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): Be patient and check what you are about while you do it. Some things can be done over later, but some things cannot.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): More than a grain of skepticism is justified in today's advice, particularly where you haven't asked for it. Do your own thinking.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): No great issues are settled today, two others are still at large.

Openess 'Vital' For B.C. Lawyers

VANCOUVER (CP) — Attorney-General Alex Macdonald called here for a new era of openness in the dealings of the legal profession in British Columbia.

He told the annual meeting of the Vancouver Bar Association that it would not be weaker, but stronger, by exposing its inner workings to the public.

Mr. Macdonald, who commended the profession for initiating such programs as legal aid, said he would like to see the association expand to — Open lawyers' disciplinary hearings and law society meetings to the public; — Include public representation on all governing bodies of the profession.

This, he said, would ensure not only that justice was being done but that it "seemed" it was being done.

He said that any such innovation would have to be undertaken voluntarily by the legal profession itself.

ROBBER JAILED
VANCOUVER (CP) — A man who helped rob a credit union here while on leave from the federal prison pre-release centre here was sentenced Thursday to seven years in jail.

John Americo Brandeale, 48, admitted Thursday he took part in the Sept. 19 robbery which netted three bandits $1,700. The two others are still at large.

RUSSIAN ROCKETS ACTIVE IN ULSTER

British Army officer displays a Russian made rocket launcher and its shell during a news conference in Belfast. An Army spokesman said the

Jobless Insurance Financing Must Be Probed Says Baldwin

OTTAWA (CP) — G. W. Baldwin, Conservative House leader, has called for an examination of the unemployment insurance financing by the auditor-general, the auditor of government spending.

He said a report by Auditor-General Maxwell Henderson should be ready for presentation to Parliament after it opens in January.

"The statements of government in relation to the unemployment insurance fund have not been such as to inspire confidence," Mr. Baldwin said in a statement.

"Right from the beginning there has been a mixture of deception and ignorance, and the real facts are not known even today. It is time to call in the watchdog and have an independent and straightforward examination of the books."

Told that the auditor-general's department was not sure it could produce a report in time for the parliamentary session which opens Jan. 4, Mr. Baldwin said in an interview that in that case it should report as soon as possible.

Manpower Minister Robert Andras has said the total of UIC benefits paid in 1972 should be in excess of $2 billion. The taxpayer would be paying about $1.1 billion as its share of the UIC cost while weekly employer-employee contributions would cover the rest.

In 1973 the employer-employee contribution would be increased to raise another $100 million while benefits also would be raised slightly.

Mr. Andras, making his first statements on the UIC since being appointed minister, said the government would hold a tighter rein on the system in the future.

Mr. Baldwin said the vast majority of Canadians will not rest content until Mr. Henderson has been requested to examine the finances and make a full report.

G. R. Long, assistant auditor-general, said later that because of changes in the way unemployment insurance is financed, the annual report for the financial year ending last March is just being completed.

He said it might be possible to bring that almost up to date in time for presentation in January, but he added it would be a difficult job.

The method of financing unemployment insurance was changed at the beginning of this calendar year. Now the government pays out of consolidated revenue all benefits over four percent unemployment. The employer-employee contributions pay for the first four percent.

Meanwhile, Mr. Baldwin also called on the government to extend the term of Mr. Henderson who is due to retire in March at the public service retirement age of 65.

NEEDS AMENDMENTS He said in another statement that the country needs amendments to the Financial Administration Act, the legislation that provides the terms of reference for the auditor-general.

"The public has made it absolutely clear that any new act ought to give the auditor-general the capacity he needs to discharge his responsibilities to Parliament and the people," he said.

Mr. Henderson has long said that he has not been able to function properly because he has not been given enough staff by the government and that his senior staff has been downgraded by the treasury board.

The Conservatives pledged during the recent federal election that they would strengthen the office.

Mr. Baldwin said the benefit of Mr. Henderson's knowledge and experience is needed to assist in the preparation and drafting of new legislation.

He said the government should extend Mr. Henderson's tenure long enough for him to render that assistance.

In the interview he said he understands that Mr. Henderson is willing to stay on for a period.

Lord Tweedsmuir's Son Blasts U.K. Apathy About Canadians

LONDON (CP) — Prof. Alastair Buchan, youngest son of the late Lord Tweedsmuir, former governor-general of Canada, lashes out in a letter to the Times today at what he calls Britain's "almost total indifference to Canada for the past generation."

Buchan, professor of international relations at Oxford's Balliol College, makes his comments in the light of an article by former labor minister Richard Crossman Wednesday which expressed surprise at what Crossman found to be indifference among New Brunswick University students to things British.

Buchan's criticisms are levelled at the British generally "and successive British governments in particular," although he says Canada has often "helped educate Britain from a quite diplomatic embassment" over Suez in 1956, for example, and Cyprus a few years later. Buchan, 51, was formerly director of the Institute for Strategic Studies here.

British prime ministers, he says, "often make a wayward halt at Ottawa on the way to or from Washington," but other ministers of both principal parties have "rarely gone there."

Buchan recalls that when he was asked to chair an Anglo-Canadian conference in 1971, "we could not persuade a single (British) minister to participate, in spite of the presence of an influential Canadian team including Lester Pearson."

Buchan also said that no British newspaper maintains a correspondent in Ottawa, and there is no chair of Canadian studies in any British university.

Pentagon Papers Judge Will Declare A Mistrial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The judge in the Pentagon Papers trial says he will declare a mistrial, dismiss the current jury and select a new one.

Judge Matt Byrne of the U.S. district court announced his surprising decision Friday less than two hours after receiving word that the 9th Circuit U.S. Court of Appeals in San Francisco said it would be "foolish" to proceed with the current jury.

Byrne said he would issue his official ruling Monday, when defendant Daniel Ellsberg could be present.

Co-defendant Anthony Russo was on hand for Friday's session but Ellsberg's lawyer said he could not reach the former Rand Corp. employee in time for the hurriedly-called session.

Russo said after Byrne's statement that the mistrial decision signified a "great victory" for him and Ellsberg. "With a new jury, I think we'll have much better chances," he said.

The trial had been in limbo for four months while the defence appealed the government's use of wiretap information and alleged partiality of the jury.

WANTS FAIR TRIAL
"I am anxious to go to trial," Russo said. "But I don't want any shadows cast over this trial. I want it to be a fair trial."

Byrne, who said last week he felt the 12-member jury selected last August had remained impartial, reported that he was not in full agreement with the appellate court's recommendation.

School At Campbell River 'Has Been Treated Poorly'

CAMPBELL RIVER, B.C. (CP) — This community's senior secondary school has been treated poorly, but amends can be made if principal John Young is reinstated, lawyer John Laxton told a board of reference Friday.

In a 3½-hour summation at Young's dismissal appeal hearing, Mr. Laxton said the local school board manufactured an ultimatum last August in an effort to force Young out of his job.

"The evidence suggests that by and large this was a good school, with a good principal and good teachers," Mr. Laxton told the three-man board, which had heard about 45 hours of testimony by 11 witnesses since the hearing opened Nov. 28.

"The evidence suggests the school deserved to be treated better. One of the ways it can be put right is by the unrestrained reinstatement of its principal, John Young."

"Mr. Laxton said a list of rules for operation of the school, presented to Young by the school board in August, was outside the trustees' power. "We say the rules were conceived in sin and illegitimate at birth—conceived in sin because there seems to have been a plot between (school superintendent William) Ramsay and certain trustees to force Young to quit, by presenting rules which they well knew his educational philosophy would not allow him to accept. This was a manufactured ultimatum designed to make Mr. Young resign."

The lawyer said a widely-distributed memorandum Young wrote Aug. 9 in reply to the rules contained criticism that was fair comment and grounds for dismissal.

But school board lawyer Stuart Clynne, who began his summation Friday and will complete it when the board reconvenes next week in Victoria, said the memorandum is the "main and foremost" reason for the board's decision to fire Young in September on grounds of misconduct and neglect of duty.

Mr. Clynne said other reasons for firing Young were a number of his public statements and his alleged failure to carry out proposals for improving administrative aspects of the school's operation.

He said the key issue is whether Young should continue in the school board's employment after "a progression of inflammatory statements" in newspapers, speeches and press releases. "In every case, whether the issue was large or small, it hit the press and the public gaze with monotonous regularity," Mr. Clynne said.

"However, in view of the language in the order of the court of appeals . . . I believe the court of appeals is advising that there is a substantial danger that a case tried by this jury might be disturbed on appeal."

The judge said he went along with the recommendation because of the potential cost to taxpayers.

Defence lawyer H. Peter Young said it could cost taxpayers $1 million to proceed with the original trial.

The trial had been scheduled to proceed next Tuesday on charges that Ellsberg, 41, and Russo, 35, are guilty of espionage, conspiracy and theft in connection with the leak in 1971 of top-secret documents on the Vietnam war to the news media.

Their case has been pending for more than a year.

Fighter Rushed To Hospital

QUEBEC (CP) — Montreal boxer Raynald Cantin was taken to hospital Friday with what was later diagnosed by doctors as a blood clot on the brain.

Cantin, preparing for a Monday night rematch with local fighter Fernand Marcotte, complained of feeling weak during training Friday and was taken to hospital.

Little more information on his condition was available from the hospital.

Cantin was hurt during a Wednesday sparring match and skipped training Thursday. He attended the taping of a television show Friday before going to the gym.

The Monday night fight was postponed. Marcotte won a previous bout between the two on a controversial decision.
